

Applied Kinesiology Class

Principles of AK

Applied Kinesiology gives you the ability to evaluate the body's function in a holistic model through muscle testing. Every muscle in the body is related to a specific organ, gland, acupuncture meridian and/or function in the body. Through accurately testing the specific muscles, the doctor can locate structural, biochemical, emotional and electromagnetic imbalances in the body, and identify the proper method of correction. It yields immediate specific data to successfully treat your patients quickly, safely and effectively. AK is designed to be a part of a holistic approach to preventive medicine.

Over a course of 6 weekends, each session will comprise of lecture, demonstration and applicable technique. Each class builds upon concepts of earlier classes, so we highly recommend taking the entire course. However, participants are welcome to select single sessions if they prefer.
